

U.S. Job Growth Beats Expectations in October; Unemployment Rate Rises to 3.7%

U.S. employers hired more workers than expected in October, but a rise in the unemployment rate to 3.7% suggested some loosening in labour market conditions, which would allow the Federal Reserve to shift towards smaller interest rate increases starting in December. Nonfarm payrolls increased 261,000 last month, the Labor Department's closely watched employment report showed on Friday. Data for September were revised higher to show 315,000 jobs added instead of 263,000 as previously reported. Economists polled by Reuters had forecast 200,000 jobs, with estimates ranging from 120,000 to 300,000. The unemployment rate increased to 3.7% from September's 3.5%. Average hourly earnings increased 0.4% after rising 0.3% in September. Wages increased by 4.7% year-on-year in October after advancing 5.0% in September as last year's large increases dropped out of the calculation. Other wage measures have also come off the boil, which bodes well for inflation.

The Fed on Wednesday delivered another 75 basis points interest rate hike and said its fight against inflation would require borrowing costs to rise further, but signalled it may be nearing an inflection point in what has become the fastest tightening of monetary policy in 40 years. Job growth has remained solid even as domestic demand has softened amid higher borrowing costs because of companies replacing workers who would have left. But with recession risks mounting, this practice could end soon. A survey from the Institute for Supply Management on Thursday found some services industry companies "are holding off on backfilling open positions," because of uncertain economic conditions. Still, the labour market remains tight, with 1.9 job openings per unemployed person at the end of September.

These include ensuring its international supply chains remain strong, active, and efficient. Its recent agreement with Nestle is one such initiative that GK has implemented to improve its distribution as the Group moves closer to achieving its goal of creating a wider wingspan in the global arena. We believe that GK is poised for further sustainable growth given its well diversified businesses across its two segments which will likely be boosted by inorganic growth from acquisitions. GraceKennedy Limited has initiated its multi-year transformational strategy in which it seeks to achieve (i) sustainable efficiency, (ii) greater agility and (iii) revenue growth. To achieve these goals, the Group has made changes to its organisational and cost structure as well as its business processes which have so far resulted in an upswing in its margins and profitability, and which augurs well for the Group's future.

Further, inflation, supply chain issues, reduced business confidence and trading due to the war in Ukraine, and ongoing economic uncertainty related to the pandemic will present challenges in the short term. However, the JP Group has remained strong, and the pandemic has created opportunities for new retail channels to offset the downturn anticipated in some. JP remains strong along several key financial metrics, including its relatively large equity base and growing cash and securities balance, providing the group with the flexibility to manage and execute on strategies of acquiring undervalued assets as they become available. Most importantly, JP continues to strengthen its operations and we anticipate that its recent acquisitions in the food and logistics businesses will likely further improve its capacity and drive its medium to long-term growth.

As its customers typically include restaurants, supermarkets retail and wholesale outlets, schools and other food service outlets, during the pandemic its customer base was severely disrupted. Now with the restrictions which impacted its business negatively over the last two years removed, we anticipate that this will provide a fillip to the company's revenue and profits in the short to medium term. Traditionally, the Company has relied on interest income from repurchase agreements, dividend income from investment holdings, gains from securities trading and fees from Unit Trust management. Over the last ten years, Jamaica has seen a significant decline in interest rates, which has influenced financial entities to lean more towards generating fee income from areas such as asset management, investment banking and trading activity in contrast to interest income from repurchase agreements. To that end JMMBGL has grown its operations from strictly investment management, trading, stockbroking, and market-making activities to include commercial banking and while Jamaica remains the core of its operations, it has a significant presence in Trinidad and the Dominican Republic. Looking ahead, we anticipate that JMMBGL's earnings will be further diversified and boosted through its equity stake into "Sagicor Financial Corporation". One of SFC's strongest growth areas has been its USA operations and as a result, this investment has allowed JMMBGL to get exposure new markets and the insurance business line and anticipate that this will help the group to yield positive results over the short to medium term.

Jamaica Broilers Group Ltd (JBG)	Current Price	$29.13	EPS	$3.27	ROE	17.81%	ROE	17.14%	Having been in operation for over sixty years, JBG has grown into an iconic Jamaican company with an increasing presence in the region. The Company's Jamaican operations continue to have a significant impact in the local marketplace through its Best Dressed Chicken and Hi-Pro divisions. With operations already firmly set in Haiti, JBG moved further to cement a stronghold and presence along the supply chain in the US with its recent acquisitions. Now a multinational entity, the Group is best described as a vertically integrated poultry business with operations spanning the full gamut of poultry rearing as a means for food production. In our view, these acquisitions and other inorganic initiatives are expected to be the catalyst for JBG's growth going forward.
